

In Guilin, showing a little leg can save a woman a lot of money.

The Guilin Merryland Theme Park, located in the southern Chinese city of Guilin, is offering half-price admission to female visitors, if they sport a skirt shorter than 38 centimeters .

Female staffers are in charge of measuring the skirts and only women 18 and over can participate.

The two month-long "Love Miniskirt" promotion, designed to attract members of the fairer sex to the park, will save those who take advantage of the deal 55 yuan, approximately $8.50.

"The stipulation aims to encourage female visitors to showcase their beauty in summer," park deputy manager Li Wenxing told the newspaper.

Miniskirt Girls get 50% discount

Thursday, 26 July 2012 03:53

